

The Teacher I'm Becoming

You can be proud of the teacher you are and still be curious about who you are becoming.

THREE WORDS FOR THE TEACHER I WANT TO BE

EVIDENCE I ALREADY SEE

Where do those three words already show up in what students experience?

ONE STRENGTH I WANT TO PROTECT

What feels genuinely mine—something I do not want growth to erase?

ONE THING I AM LEARNING TO DO

What am I changing, practicing, or understanding differently?

ONE SMALL ACTION THIS WEEK

What is one observable action that moves identity into practice?

FINAL REFLECTION

The teacher I am becoming is learning to...

Good teaching does not have one personality. Learn from others, use what works, and keep enough of yourself in the room that students are actually getting you.
